

Plane's Passengers Released By Castro

Castro Okays Release Of 38 Persons

Hijacked Plane Apparently Will Be Held In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro today released the passengers and crew of an Eastern Air Lines plane hijacked over Florida and flown to Havana.

Passenger airliners, warned of more Cuban pirating in the air, took off today under special protection.

It was not disclosed just what the safeguards were. But one source indicated that FBI men were accompanying the flights.

Pan American World Airways received word of the Cuban Leader's decision from its agent in crew and put a DC7B and a crew on standby at Miami International Airport.

The Swiss embassy in Havana had been trying to arrange for the return to Miami of the passengers and crew. An embassy spokesman said its efforts were hindered because of the Castro revolutionary celebration.

Tentative plans for the airlift called for the PAA plane to take off at 2 p.m. (EST) and return to Miami about two hours later.

Eastern officials consulted with Pan American over arrangements for the flight.

Reports from Havana said passengers were generally in good spirits despite delays in unwinding the red tape to allow their release.

No one aboard was hurt when the Eastern Air Lines plane was diverted to Havana Monday. Passengers and crew spent the night at the Havana airport hotel.

Cuban officials said a passenger on the plane seized control because he had been repeatedly forbidden by the U.S. officials to go to Cuba.

No mention was made in a Havana radio account of the fact that the pilot was forced to make the flight here at gunpoint, nor did the radio give the passenger's name. It said he feared reprisals against his relatives in the United States.

The Cuban government seemed to have no objection to allowing the passengers and crew to return promptly, but Swiss diplomats, who handle U.S. affairs here since the break in diplomatic relations, found all government offices closed for the celebrations marking the anniversary of Fidel Castro's revolution. That delayed the necessary official permission to leave.

A Swiss spokesman said the embassy hoped to get the passengers aboard a Pan American Airways flight to Miami, but a Pan American spokesman said a special flight might have to be arranged. The line's regular flights are jammed with Cuban refugees.

Refund of 8 Per Cent

Gas Rebate Checks To Be Mailed Soon

Refunds to natural gas customers of Missouri Public Service Company in 11 Missouri cities and the manner in which the refunds are to be made were approved by the Public Service Commission of Missouri in an order issued Monday. Gas customers of the company who will participate in the refund are those receiving service in the cities of Nevada, Deerfield, Sedalia, Clinton, Lexington, Marshall, Richmond, Henrietta, Platina, Weston and Tracy.

Richard C. Green, President of Missouri Public Service Company announced that the company will mail approximately 25,000 refund checks totaling more than $400,000 to the customers involved as soon as the checks can be prepared, which is expected to be about the middle of September.

Of the total amount to be refunded, residential and commercial customers will receive approximately $350,000 and industrial customers approximately $50,000. The amount of each individual refund check will be in the neighborhood of eight per cent of the customer's total billing during the refund period.

Residential and commercial customers receiving gas service during any of the period from December 1, 1959, to March 27, 1961, will be entitled to a refund based upon respective volume of gas purchased during that period, if the refund amount is more than 50 cents. No refunds will be made where the amount is 50 cents or less.

Missouri Public Service Company purchases natural gas from Cities Service Gas Company for its customers in the cities affected. The refunds result from a recent rate settlement between the Federal Power Commission and Cities Service Gas Company, which reduced rates put into effect in 1959 by Cities Service. Youngster Drowns In Lake of Ozarks

CAMDENTON, Mo. (AP)—Scott Lee Fowler, 6, drowned Monday in the Lake of the Ozarks, apparently after falling off a boat dock while playing alone.

The accident occurred near the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fowler, on the Niangua arm of the lake.

Skin divers recovered the body about four hours after the boy was missed.

Satellites To Be Used By Industry

FCC Urges Work On Communication System At Once

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communication Commission today called on American industry to move as quickly as possible toward establishing a worldwide commercial communications system to be operated through orbiting earth satellites.

At the same time the commission reaffirmed a previous decision that, initially at least, American ownership of such a system should be restricted to companies now operating in the international communications field.

The FCC directed such companies to proceed promptly with the organization of a temporary industry committee "to speed plans for their joint development, construction, ownership and operation" of the system.

President Kennedy issued a statement Monday supporting the private ownership principle for the U.S. portion of a satellite communications network — provided certain requirements are met.

The President again urged all nations to participate in the operation "in the interest of world peace and closer brotherhood among peoples throughout the world."

The commission told the American international communications carriers it wants a report from the proposed temporary committee by Oct. 13 at the latest.

The directive was addressed to American Cable and Radio Corp. and its subsidiaries, MacKay Radio, Commercial Cable Co., All America Cables and Radio, and Globe Wireless; American Telephone & Telegraph Co.; Hawaiian Telephone Co.; Press Wireless Inc.; South Porto Rico Sugar Co.; Tropical Radio Telegraph Co.; United States-Liberia Radio Corp.; and Western Union Telegraph Co.

The commission echoed the president's view that ownership of the globe-circling satellites should be shared with foreign governments and foreign communication agencies and should be available for use by all.

Among the requirements for private ownership that Kennedy laid down was "maximum possible competition."

Kennedy to Unveil His Plan On Berlin In Talk Tonight

More Funds Support Seen In Congress

Sharp Differences On Possibility Of Increase In Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears ready to support an expected request for an increase of $3 billion or more in defense spending.

But there is a sharp difference of opinion among members on whether action should be taken at this time to increase taxes.

Kennedy outlines to the nation in a television-radio broadcast tonight the grave challenge raised by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threat to try to squeeze the West out of Berlin.

The President will follow this up Wednesday with a message asking Congress for funds to bolster the nation's defense capabilities.

The general belief among the lawmakers is that Kennedy has ruled out any crash program and will ask for an orderly step up in the strength of Marine and Army ground forces, plus more intensive training for National Guard and reserve units.

To pay for all of this, some members of Congress have argued that Kennedy should ask for an immediate increase in corporation and personal income taxes.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said he is one of those who personally urged Kennedy to seek new taxes.

"I think the President should lay the Berlin situation before the people bluntly and should ask for the taxes needed to pay for strengthening our defenses," Humphrey said.

Humphrey said, however, that the President had been urged by other members to defer any tax request until it can be determined later whether present tax rates will bring in sufficient revenue to avoid any large deficit.

In Philadelphia

Parking Plan Idea Results In a Riot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An angry, jeering crowd of 2,000 persons hurled rocks and eggs and shouted profanity at Mayor Richardson Dilworth Monday night as he tried to defend his controversial $40-a-year parking fee plan.

Several persons reportedly were injuring Councilman Gaetano P. Giordano, who opposes the plan. Giordano, a Democrat as is Dilworth, represents the South Philadelphia district where the mayor wants to set up the experimental plan.

He pleaded for the crowd to hear the mayor out. He suffered a cut eye when hit by either a rock or flying glass in the school auditorium where the mayor spoke.

Some of the crowd smashed the rear window of a police car in which two boys who had been arrested were placed. Several persons smashed five windows of the car of Edward Lain, 21, a newsman for television station WRCV.

All available highway patrolmen were sent to reinforce 40 regular officers who had been detailed to the meeting.

Dilworth was led from the stormy meeting by police and driven to his Society Hill home where officers stayed on guard overnight. He said "a small core of about 10 to 12 young fellows seemed to trigger it all."

The outcry of "Let's crash it" by a group of 10 husky youths reportedly touched off the violence outside the auditorium. There were about 500 persons inside the auditorium and 1,500 others outside in the schoolyard.

From the outside crowd came a barrage of rocks and bottles which crashed through panes of glass in the auditorium. Radio stations WRCV and WCAU were cut off from their remote broadcasts when telephone lines were ripped off. One group tried to overturn a mobile radio car.

Dilworth, his wife standing by him, declared that he was "going to say what I've come to say regardless of what you do."

"Down with Dilworth," shouted the crowd.

The mayor shouted himself hoarse and never did finish his prepared text in which he defended his plan by saying that "the problem with which we are faced is the problem of the automobile threatening to engulf our city."

Strategy Set In Fight On Berlin Threat

Broadcast Tonight To Be Aired At 8 P. M. Local Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy unveils to the nation tonight a broad plan for stepping up defense against the Communist threat to Berlin and throughout the world.

In advance of his 8 p.m. (Sedalia time) radio-TV broadcast, Kennedy scheduled his usual Tuesday morning White House meeting with Democratic congressional leaders.

This gave him an opportunity to brief his legislative chiefs on points he will cover in his speech and in a formal message to Congress Wednesday.

Informed sources said Kennedy's strategy was set to provide for a step-by-step Western strengthening as Communist pressures mount on Berlin and a long-term increase in ability to counter the Reds should they turn on the heat elsewhere.

This involves a boost in the U.S. preparedness program above the $43 billion Kennedy has already asked for the military this year, bigger arms contributions by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies, and further teamwork among the allies in diplomatic, political and economic tactics.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who has announced a big arms build-up, says he will sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany at the end of this year. This treaty, the Kremlin chieftain says, will wipe out the rights of the United States, Britain and France to Communist-surrounded West Berlin.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy himself did most of the speech writing as the President and his aides worked on tonight's address.

Among those stopping off at the White House Monday were Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

The attendance of Dillard Heller led to speculation that Kennedy might want to raise taxes to cover the expanded program. The President has been reluctant to seek further taxes, on grounds this slows recovery and the economic pickup already under way will bring in added revenues.

One major item in the Kennedy package is civil defense. Informants said the chief executive wants to raise to around $300 million—triple his present budget—the federal outlays for preparedness against any Soviet attack on the United States. This apparently would include large scale installation of shelters against radioactive fallout from atomic blasts.

Opening of Bids For Knob Noster School Is Set

The bid opening date for the new Knob Noster High School has been set for Thursday, Aug. 3, at 8 p.m., according to James Jageman, school superintendent. Interested parties in addition to the contractors are invited to attend.

The opening will be in the multipurpose room of the elementary building, 405 East Wimer Street. All plans and specifications have been approved by the State Department of Education and the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Jageman said. Construction is expected to begin in 30 days after the contract is let.

All the teaching positions have been filled except for kindergarten at Whiteman School. Mrs. Bernice Pottorff recently resigned from her contract to take a similar position in Hastings, Neb.

All the cooks and custodians employed last year have been offered new contracts. The secretaries in the town schools have been hired, with the secretary job at Whiteman School still open. The five 1960-61 bus drivers who had indicated before the last Board of Education meeting that they were interested, were rehired. Three more drivers are to be hired.

Ask French Withdrawal

Tunisia Prepared For New Fighting

TUNIS (AP)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba accused France today of violating the U.N. Security Council's Bizerte ceasefire order by refusing to withdraw to their prebattle positions and by extending their hold on Tunisian territory.

Bourguiba warned at a news conference that fighting may break out again. He said he had told nations that had offered volunteers to help Tunisia that he needed trained guerrilla fighters, planes based in Tunisia or other countries, arms and mobile anti-aircraft batteries.

Bourguiba did not accuse the French of renewing the attack. But he said if they did not withdraw from Bizerte city into the naval base enclave, "fighting is bound to start again."

"We have decided to resist until the end and we are prepared for new hostilities," the president declared.

"We have decided to inform the Security Council that this cannot continue. This situation cannot last indefinitely."

While Bourguiba spoke, U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld conferred with Tunisian officials in an effort to keep the crisis from reaching bigger proportions.

Hammarskjöld, who arrived in the Tunisian capital Monday at Bourguiba's invitation, was studying Tunisia's case against France in one of the thorniest and most difficult tasks of his career.

A number of Tunisians doubted that the U.N. official would produce a solution that would satisfy Tunisia, which wants total unconditional French withdrawal from the Bizerte base.

Hammarskjöld had a three-hour session Monday night with Bourguiba which a Tunisian official described as exploratory.

The U.N. chief was tight-lipped when he emerged from Bourguiba's seaside summer palace 10 miles outside the capital. His only comment to newsmen was that he had not scheduled a visit to the city of Bizerte, which the French in four days of bloody fighting captured before a ceasefire call from the U.N. Security Council stopped the shooting.

The secretary-general, who described the crisis as "a matter of urgency," was reported to have told officials he could not foresee how many days his mission would take. U.N. sources in New York said Hammarskjöld was expected to return Thursday.

A Tunisian delegation source at U.N. headquarters in New York said another Security Council session on Bizerte was virtually certain late this week.

The Tunisians accused France of flouting the council's resolution, which also called on both sides to return to their prebattle positions in Bizerte. French government sources have said France would not pull back until the Tunisian government guarantees her free communications to and between the various installations of her huge naval and air base at Bizerte.

Swimming Pool Bond Issue Is Proposed

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — A $250,000 bond issue for the purchase of land and construction of a municipal swimming pool and recreational area was recommended to the city council Monday night.

A recreational committee recommended a bond issue be submitted to a vote Aug. 22, when a $200,000 bond issue proposal for sewer improvement will be decided.

Base Airman Struck By Lightning

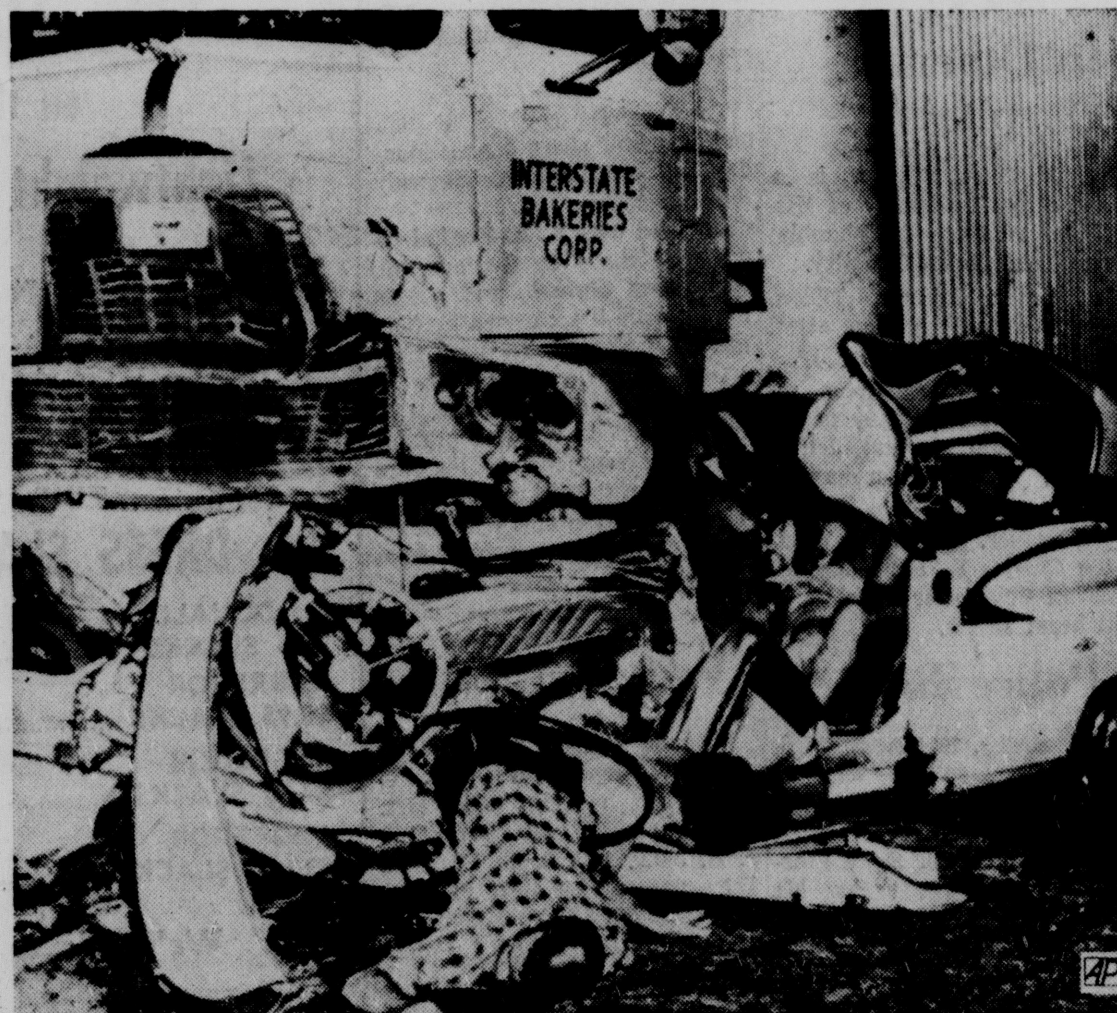

An airman stationed at Whiteman AFB escaped with minor burns after being struck by lightning at 8:45 a.m. Tuesday, base information officials reported today.

The airman, now recovering in the base hospital, was identified as A-1c Woodrow J. Berry, Jr., assigned to the 16th Munitions Maintenance Squadron at Whiteman.

Base information officials said Airman Berry suffered minor burns on his hands and feet when he was struck by the bolt as he was preparing to enter a truck on the base. Base hospital officials reported the airman's condition was very satisfactory. The incident occurred during a rain and thunderstorm in this area early in the morning.

Berry and his wife, Corinne, reside at 916 South Vermont in Sedalia.

Public Concern Sharpening

Congress May Give Money To Civil Defense Program

EDITOR'S NOTE—In this second of four articles on the posture of U.S. civil defense, Sterling F. Green discusses financial aspects of the program as well as the present hazard, the problem it presents and the proposed start toward a solution.

Civil Defense No. 2—Money and Hazards

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—With public concern over civil defense sharpening, officials think Congress may be induced at last to provide a vital ingredient—money, in big quantities.

When mayors, governors and local civil defense officials call for "more vigorous federal leadership," it usually means they want Uncle Sam to put up the money that overburdened city treasuries cannot provide.

The Kennedy administration has accepted the view that the job is worth doing and that the government must foot much of the bill to get a national shelter program going.

In three long sentences, here is the threat, the problem it presents, and the administration's proposed start toward a solution.

The hazard: In a successful, surprise nuclear assault by missiles and bombers, 70 million Americans might be exposed to death or disability by blast, radiation and fallout, while panic, confusion, and hunger might be spread through much of the surviving population.

The problem: To save as many as possible—perhaps half of the 70 million in the prime danger zones—from the wind-borne, radi-

New York Cops Told of Plot For Hijacking

NEW YORK (AP)—New York police said today they were told supporters of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro planned to hijack five commercial planes here today and fly them to Havana.

The plot was reported to the police by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It called for placing two gunmen aboard each of the five planes and divert them to Cuba.

Police said the airlines involved were Eastern, National and Northeast.

A gunman hijacked an Eastern Airlines plane Monday and forced the pilot at gunpoint to fly to Havana. Thirty-three passengers and five crewmen were aboard.

Police said the FBI told them that members of the pro-Castro movement met Sunday night here at the Casa Cuba and made plans for 10 men, all armed, to board the airlines some time today either here or in Tampa, Fla.

The FBI also notified the Port of New York Authority, which operates airports here and the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Police immediately took precautionary measures here to thwart the plot.

Accidents

A 1960 Buick and a 1957 Chevrolet were involved in an accident in the 1600 block on South Limit at 10:22 p. m. Monday. The Buick was driven by Fred R. Porta, incomplete address given, and the Chevrolet was driven by Charles E. Brownfield, 319 North Prospect. Brownfield said he was unable to stop as the other car turned left into the Dog 'n Suds Drive-in.

The rear of the Porta car and the front end of the Brownfield car were damaged. There were no apparent injuries.

No injuries were received in a two-car accident at the Jerry Brown service station on East Highway 50 about 4:30 p. m. Monday.

Both cars involved were traveling east on the highway. The cars were a 1960 Ford driven by William Deitmaring, 69, Route 5, Sedalia, and a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Carrie Thompson, 65, 1423 South Moniteau.

According to Trooper Pete Stohr, who investigated, the Ford was preparing to make a left turn into the service station. Trooper Stohr said the woman driving the Chevrolet reported she did not see the blinker light on the Ford and began to pass. The left front bumper of the Ford came in contact with the right side of the Chevrolet.

The right side of the Chevrolet was damaged. Both vehicles were driven away under their own power.

Two cars, both driven south on Highway 65, about 1 mile north of Sedalia, were in collision at 10:40 p. m. Monday.

Involved were a 1951 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Robert Mewes, 17, Route 4, Sedalia, and a 1961 Falcon coach driven by Joe Newman, 48, Nelson, Mo.

According to Trooper Pete Stohr, the pickup truck was giving a hand-signal for a left turn onto Pettis County Road HH when the Falcon passed. The left front of the pickup collided with the right front of the Falcon. Both vehicles were extensively damaged, but driven away under their own power.

Two vehicles collided at 16th and Harrison about 8 a. m. Monday, with occupants receiving only minor injuries.

Involved were a 1953 Ford, driven by Richard D. Guyman, 19, 807½ West Seventh, and a 1950 Ford pickup truck driven by George H. Beeler, 70, 313 East 25th. Guyman and a passenger in the Ford, Mrs. Walter Williams, 1500 South Prospect, received bruises.

The left front fender of the Ford and front of the pickup truck were damaged. Howerton's wrecker removed the Guyman vehicle from the scene.

Sleeping Beauty Children Home On Trial Basis

CLEVELAND (AP)—A juvenile court judge today sent the "Sleeping Beauty" sisters home on a trial basis to their mother, Lillian Fratanio, after nearly a year in a children's home.

"Man, this is great," said Vincent Fratanio after hearing that his children could go home.

Mrs. Fratanio was convicted last Dec. 6 of mistreating her daughters, Bernadette, 4, and Venita, 6, by feeding them drugs that kept them in prolonged comas. The case of the "Sleeping Beauties" mystified medical men for several months, and the case was widely publicized.

Mrs. Fratanio was fined $500 and sentenced to one year in jail, but she is free on bond pending appeal of her conviction. She was not in court today.

Judge Albert A. Woldman did not give Mrs. Fratanio and husband custody of the children. He left legal custody with the Catholic Charities Bureau, which had kept the children at Parma-dale.

Kennedy Is Mum On Content Of Speech Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy discussed foreign aid and other subjects with Democratic congressional leaders today but not what he will say tonight about Berlin.

"Of course the President didn't tell us what he is going to say tonight," House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said with reference to Kennedy's scheduled report to the nation.

Rayburn said the breakfast conference included a discussion of foreign aid legislation. "We think we're in pretty good shape" on foreign aid, Rayburn said. "I don't think it's going to get any worse."

He reported the military construction appropriation bill would come before the House today and had a "pretty good chance."

He also said an omnibus farm bill might come before the House Wednesday or Thursday. A companion measure is being debated in the Senate.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader, reported that Kennedy was pleased that, as he put it, the economic upturn in the nation in the last three months has been better than in any similar period in the last 20 years. He said also that Kennedy was pleased with the progress of the foreign aid bill.

Aerial Contest Competition Won By WAFB

The 340th Bombardment Wing and 340th Air Refueling Squadron commanded by Col. Willis F. Lewis and Lt. Col. Joseph J. Young, respectively, for the third consecutive year were named winners of the 17th Air Division's fueling competition.

The competition was held this year at Barksdale AFB, La., headquarters of the Second Air Force.

The two Whiteman units are now entitled to permanent possession of the first place trophies that will be presented Monday by Brig. General Robert H. Strauss, 17th Air Division Commander.

The four crews who copped the first place trophy for the refueling Squadron, also won second place at numbered Air Force level. They will now participate in the 1961 Strategic Air Command Combat Competition at Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash. Sept. 9 through 15.

Members of the four crews are: Crew J-39; Major William L. Allen, aircraft commander; Captain Joyel M. Morton, co-pilot; Major Anthony J. Daher, navigator; M-Sgt. Frank R. Bushar, engineer; and M-Sgt. George W. Crigler, boom operator.

Crew T-63: 1st Lt. Robert D. Larson, aircraft commander; 1st Lt. Allen J. Williams, co-pilot; Captain Lee J. Tate, navigator; M-Sgt. Jess M. Griffin, engineer; A-1c James F. King, boom operator.

Crew J-72 is comprised of aircraft commander Captain Robert L. Koger, 1st Lt. Darrell R. Gresham, co-pilot; 1st Lt. George C. Thompson, navigator; T-Sgt. Draymond Crawford, engineer; and S-Sgt. Frank B. Bilberry, boom operator.

Bagworms Defoliate Evergreen Shrubbery

Much evergreen shrubbery over Sedalia is being defoliated by bagworms. These pests usually strike in June but are late this year as is everything else, according to Merle Vaughan County Agent, who says "for best results and to avoid as much worm damage as possible, spray when the small worms are first noticed."

"For control spray with toxaphene at rate of two tablespoons 60-65 per cent toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water or two quarts 60-65 per cent toxaphene emulsifiable concentrate per 100 gallons of water."

"Or spray with malathion at rate of one tablespoon 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate or two tablespoons 25 per cent malathion wettable powder per gallon of water. Or use one quart 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate or five pounds 25 per cent malathion wettable powder per 100 gallons of water."

"Or spray with sevin at rate of two tablespoons 50 per cent sevin wettable powder per gallon of water, or two pounds 50 per cent sevin wettable powder per 100 gallons of water."

Competition Is Required In Satellites

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in a statement of policy, has announced that a U.S. communications satellite system should be owned and operated by private companies—if certain requirements are met.

Among the requirements he laid down was "maximum possible competition."

In his statement Monday Kennedy again invited all nations to join in the space network "in the interest of world peace and closer brotherhood among peoples throughout the world."

He drew up guidelines for business requirements and government responsibility in the program which is still in the research and development stage.

With these guidelines, he said, "I am anxious that development of this new technology to bring the farthest corner of the globe within reach by voice and visual communication, fairly and equitably available for use, proceed with all possible promptness."

The president noted that science and technology have progressed to a degree that communication through the use of space satellites has become possible.

"Through this country's leadership, this competence should be developed for global benefit at the earliest practicable time," he said.

Both industry and government have pressed for a communications satellite, calling it an urgent national objective.

Kennedy said private ownership and operation of "the U.S. portion of the system is favored, providing that such ownership and operation" meet policy requirements.

These include:

A new and expanded international communications system, including service to unprofitable areas; opportunities for foreign participation in the system; effective competition in buying of equipment; structure of ownership or control which will assure "maximum possible competition" and development of an economical system.

The federal government for its part, Kennedy said, will, among other things, conduct and encourage research and development in the field; handle international agreements; provide technical assistance to newly developing nations to help maintain a global system.

Kennedy put policy coordination in the hands of the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

Comet Is Named After a Pilot Who Noticed It

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"I've been looking for one all my life," said the man credited with discovering Comet Wilson while flying at 29,000 feet off the Oregon coast.

A. Stewart Wilson, 34, of Seattle, second officer on a Pan American World Airways flight from Honolulu, said he was looking casually for the planet Mercury with his binoculars.

Then a wedge of light appeared and narrowed to a point—the head of a comet.

At San Francisco, other airline pilots also reported seeing a mysterious light Sunday and Monday mornings, but Wilson, an amateur star gazer, apparently was first to report it.

When Wilson got home he tried to telephone Harvard Observatory. He couldn't raise anyone so he wired. Monday Harvard reported the discovery and said the name would be Comet Wilson.

The new comet has a long tail and third magnitude brightness, which makes it two to three times dimmer than the North Star but much brighter than the Milky Way.

Harvard said it can be seen in the northeastern sky in early morning.

Gymnasium Will Be Named After Peter M. Beach

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—The gymnasium and swimming pool building of the new $3 1/4 million Douglas MacArthur High School of Saginaw Township will be named for Peter M. Beach, the 18-year-old Yale University student who was killed in the July 10 roof cave-in during its construction.

It will be called the Peter M. Beach Athletic Building.

The Saginaw Township board of education decided Monday on the name. Young Beach, son of Glenn M. Beach of Saginaw, associate architect, worked as a laborer on the project while on vacation from Yale. Beach was killed and six men were hurt in the collapse of the 100-ton roof.

Trust Fund Set Up For Stray Canines

SCUNTHORPE, England (AP)—Dog lover Jeremiah Green has made a will setting up a 300,000-pound—$840,000—trust fund to build and maintain a luxury home for stray dogs.

"Some people will call me a crank for leaving all my money to dogs," said real estate dealer Green, "but they have been my greatest friends."

The dogs' home will be a memorial to Rusty, a cocker spaniel Green had for 14 years.

Silo Caused Famous Cow Much Trouble

YUKON, Okla. (AP)—Grady the cow, a 1,200-pound Hereford who jumped through a 17 by 25 1/2 inch silo feed door into national prominence 12 years ago, died Monday not far from the silo where she spent four confusing days.

Her owner, Bill Mach, said the 18-year old cow "just got tired and died of old age." Mach found Grady dead in her corral on his ranch Monday night.

Grady jumped into the silo on Washington's Birthday in 1949, after having a hard time giving birth to a calf which died.

For the next four days, Grady paced inside the silo. John Randolph, Associated Press staff member at Oklahoma City at the time and now AP general executive for Asia, was one of the first reporters on the scene.

From the time Randolph wrote "hi diddle diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped into the silo," until Grady oozed her way out of her prison, the 6-year old bovine held the nation's attention.

Before Grady was freed, Mach heard from folks in 45 states and several foreign countries.

Former Oklahoma Gov. Roy J. Turner, a breeder of Herefords, suggested she be anesthetized so "she can be relaxed and put back through the little door."

An Air Force officer said the Army had a helicopter that could lift Grady out of the silo. This plan didn't materialize.

Some people wanted to dismantle a portion of the silo. There were a block of advocates of greasing Grady so she could squirt through the opening once a little pressure was applied from behind.

One of the grease advocates was Ken Tooil, executive editor of the Toledo (Ohio) Times. Tooil, who was appointed Times' cow editor during Grady's hectic experience, added a new twist by suggesting she be put on a strict diet for a few days before greasing.

The greasers won. Ralph Partridge, Denver Post farm editor, flew here and smeared the fidgety cow with about 10 pounds of axle grease. A veterinarian gave her a sedative to calm her nerves.

A lariat was looped around her de-horned head and manpower was supplied from behind. After a few minutes, Grady caught on, wiggled her hips a couple of times and squeezed through.

Grady settled down, lived quietly afterwards and gave birth to several healthy calves.

She also stayed away from silos.

Army Officer, Family Lose Lives In Fire

HONOLULU (AP)—Lt. Col. Harold A. Hicks, 41-year-old Army officer from Kansas City, Kan., his wife and three of their five children, burned to death Monday when fire swept their home near Honolulu.

Investigators said Col. and Mrs. Hicks apparently escaped from the house with two older daughters but the parents went back when they saw three younger children were trapped.

The younger children were Harold Jr., 10, Jimmie, 5, and Vickie, 2. The two girls who escaped were Carol, 18, and Nadja, 12.

Col. Hicks graduated from the Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth in 1958 and his wife was the daughter of Warrant Officer Stephen Cox, instructor at Ft. Leavenworth when they were married. Col. Hicks was attached to the Army Pacific division of the U.S. Pacific Command in Hawaii.

A sister, Mrs. Vernon Hall of Denver, said arrangements will be made to return the two girls to Kansas City, Kan.

House Wrecked By Explosion; Three Injured

RICHMOND, Mo. (AP)—An explosion wrecked a frame house in Richmond Monday, injuring three persons.

Arlie Claypole, 67, a semi-invalid, and his wife, Mae, 66, owners of the house, were buried under debris. They suffered cuts and bruises.

The blast jolted plaster off the ceiling of Jack Hackett's house two doors south of the Claypoles, and Hackett suffered cuts on the head.

The north wall of the Claypole home hit the house of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Roberts.

Claypole was pulled out by neighbors. Firemen propped up the fallen roof and rescued Mrs. Claypole.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Do babies get bored? Yes, sometimes they do. As a baby begins to stay awake for longer periods of time he may fuss because he doesn't know what to do with the extra time. Ways to woo baby's interest:

For the small baby—a mobile, a balloon or bright scarf tied to his crib will keep him look-happy. Music will keep him listen-happy.

For the baby who can grasp—rattles, bell toys and touch toys with different textures will keep him absorbed.

Boredom at mealtime is most unusual when you serve a variety of foods. It's easy, with over 50 delicious Gerber Strained Foods, 10 fruits • 9 vegetables • 9 meats • 5 high meat dinners • 10 dinners • 6 juices • 4 desserts • egg yolks.

Each one is designed with baby's eating pleasure in mind. All are prepared to preserve the utmost in precious food values.

Rounding out baby's nutritional picture. When you serve a variety from all categories of Gerber Baby Foods you do a good job of meeting baby's nutritional requirements. Point to remember: no one food is a must. If baby balks at one food temporarily, you have many another Gerber variety to substitute.

Beauty tips for a prettier you. Baby's cotton swabs make mighty fine beauty aids. Borrow them to smooth on rouge, lipstick or eye shadow. Also good for applying perfume or cream deodorants.

Specialty of the house, specially made to please your pride and joy. Gerber Strained Creamed Cottage Cheese with Pineapple is pure delight for a hungry sprite. Think of it... creamy cottage cheese, flavor-brilliant with a touch of mellow pineapple.

M-m-m! High in protein, it also provides calcium and riboflavin, an important B-vitamin. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Mountainous Problem

Wheat keeps on being perhaps our most stubborn farm surplus problem because:

1. Its price is to attractive to farmers it would have to fall a considerable distance before they would think seriously of switching to something else. In this sense it's a "blue ribbon" crop.

2. Wheat farmers are so increasingly skillful at applying the latest farm technology—better seed strains, pest control, fertilizer—that they go on growing more and more on the same or less acreage.

Harvested wheat acreage today runs in the range of 52 to 54 million acres. Ten years ago it took 20 million more acres to get the output we now get from the smaller land total. Government farm experts say that by 1965 we can match present production from five million fewer acres than we will harvest in 1961.

3. Our population booms spectacularly, but our use of wheat for food doesn't keep pace. In fact, with all our past gains in numbers, U. S. food use of wheat has stayed nearly constant for 25 years. People eat more meat and dairy products.

If we just grew enough wheat for our own food needs, we could turn over 30 million acres to something else right now. What saves us from being buried in wheat is the fact we ship abroad 450 to 500 million bushels a year to regular commercial and foreign aid outlets, and consume 100 or more million for seed and feed.

4. Existing farm law governing acreage allotments and other restrictions has enough loopholes and technicalities to account for perhaps 150 million bushels a year—more than the average annual excess of output over total domestic and foreign use. Says an Agriculture Department research report:

"These features may be necessary to provide equitable treatment among growers, but their effect has been to increase production."

Production for a decade has averaged around 1,100,000,000 bushels annually, and new 1961 figures indicate 1,259,000,000 this time. So, with all uses totaling not much more than a billion bushels yearly, the mountain of extra wheat rises higher and higher, and now totals 1,500,000,000 bushels.

So long as prices look good, the wheat farmer's productive ingenuity is expandable, the technicalities favor him, and Americans decline to pop more morning toast, the mountain seems likely to loom large on the horizon.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Inside Story On Family Farm Vote

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Members of the House Agriculture Committee were certainly agitated when their secret vote was published on the elimination of the words "Family Farm" from the Farm Bill. They were so wrought up that they persuaded Rep. Harold Cooley, (D.-N.C.), chairman of the committee, to reverse himself and issue a statement letting them off the hook.

Inside story of what happened was that in voting on various provisions in the Farm Bill, Rep. Tom Abernethy of Mississippi, where the plantations are bigger than almost any state except Texas and California, moved to eliminate the following words describing one purpose of the bill "To preserve and strengthen the family-farm structure of agriculture."

Chairman Cooley immediately objected, demanded a roll-call vote. "If this is passed, it will repudiate the family farm," he said.

It is unusual to have a roll-call vote on routine measures before the House Agriculture Committee. Usually sections of the bill are passed merely by a show of hands or calling for the yeas and nays. But Cooley considered this so important that he wanted to put each member on record for or against family farms with a recorded roll-call.

The vote showed all Republicans, except Mrs. May of Washington, against family farms, plus four Dixiecrats. Family farms lost 17 to 15.

When this roll-call, held behind closed doors, was published in this column, congressional phones began to buzz. Anti-family farm Republicans were on the spot. Rep. Delbert Latta of Bowling Green, Ohio, almost did a dance trying to explain his vote to Northern Ohio constituents.

So, at the next committee meeting, Charles Hoeven of Iowa, ranking Republican, who had got two fellow Republicans, Albert Quist of Minnesota and Ben Reifel of South Dakota, into hot water by voting their proxies against family farms, whispered earnestly to Chairman Cooley.

Though one is a Republican and the other a Democrat, they play ball on a lot of things. Hoeven persuaded Cooley to issue a joint statement with him repudiating "This guy Drew Pearson." They did so. Deletion of the words "Family Farm," they said, "had no effect whatever on the legislation before us."

In issuing the statement, Cooley denied his own vote. He had not only voted against eliminating verbal support for the family farm, but he had gone to the unusual extent of demanding a roll-call vote.

However, in Congress the No. 1 rule is: "Scratch my back, I'll scratch yours."

The Medical Union

Doctors across the country have started carrying out orders from the American Medical Association, as revealed recently in this column, to divert their personal attacks

Guest Editorial

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Holes in the Jumbo Half Quart. — James Thurber once wrote a pungent satire on how a tyrant nearly subverted a civilization by banning use of the letter. No one can pretend that the American civilization is quite so endangered by those manufacturers who have set out to destroy the public's use of weights and measures. But their activities are definitely disturbing.

Senator Hart of Michigan summed up the problem neatly when he inquired during a recent speech: "I am curious to know why the 'jumbo half quart' now seems to have replaced the traditional pint."

Why indeed? And why are products labeled with such expansive generalities as "giant economy size," "family size," "king size"? Or as Senator Maurine Neuberger wonders, with such second-generation exaggerations as "king-size quart" or "full-size quart."

Why else but to destroy for the consumer the system of weights and measures by which he judges the quantity of what he wants to buy?

If Senator Hart and his committee want to do the consumer a service they might consider requiring label designers to inscribe the number of ounces, pints, etc., in figures of equal size and prominence to those used for the semantic doubletalk.

Then the embattled public would have at least a fair choice as to whether to shop in terms of jumbo superlatives or regular-sized facts.

from President Kennedy to Assistant Secretary Wilbur Cohen of the Health, Education, and Welfare Department.

The reasoning behind this strategy is that it will be easier to undermine the President's medical-care-for-the-elderly program by blaming it on a lesser bureaucrat. Kennedy is too popular.

As a result, letters have been pouring into Congress every day, accusing the little-known Cohen of all manner of skulduggery. The most common line is that he is out to destroy the medical profession. A few doctors have even suggested ominously that Cohen must be a Communist.

Typical of this smear mail is a letter from Dr. R. Wallace Teed to Senator Phil Hart Michigan Democrat.

"In a recent conversation with Wilbur Cohen in Ann Arbor," wrote Dr. Teed, "Dean W. H. Hubbard of the medical school asked him if he did not agree that if his program was adopted that it would mean the destruction of the medical profession. Mr. Cohen admitted it would."

The conversation, of course, never took place.

Note — On the other hand, a lot of doctors have written direct to the department of HEW disagreeing with the AMA in regard to medical care for the elderly. They say they have to belong to the "Medical Union," but don't agree with its policies.

TV Boycott

If you dare tangle with the networks, if you have the courage to criticize their blood-and-thunder programs, you may be subject to a network boycott. This was the warning which Sen. Gale McGee, the forthright ex-history professor from Wyoming, gave the Senate recently, after reading a Broadcasting Magazine veiled threat and Lawrence Laurent's exposure of it in the Washington Post.

David Susskind, Bill Goodson, and Robert Montgomery had dared brave the networks by testifying against TV programming at the Federal Communications hearings in New York and at the Senate Juvenile Delinquency hearings in Washington.

Later, Broadcasting Magazine, spokesman for the network moguls, warned that they "May find it difficult to find a friendly port in which to do business."

Broadcasting Magazine's hint was so broad, and Sol Taishoff, its publisher, is known as such a worshipful spokesman for the TV industry, that the FCC, in concluding its hearings, inserted a warning to the industry "That retaliatory action against witnesses in a hearing such as this would hardly comport with the responsibilities assumed by the Commission's licensees."

In other words, network stations have to come up for renewal every three years, and the FCC has the power to retaliate against any network which goes in for retaliation.

Sen. McGee, who's been subjected to a lot of network lobbying but remains "Untouchable," warned the TV industry before the Senate that there will be many watchful eyes observing the future conduct of contracting and talent arrangements in the television industry.

Law of Discretion

When Sen. Hubert Humphrey is in a reminiscing mood, he likes to talk of his earlier days as a pharmacist, and of "Humphrey's law."

That law, he deduced from his drugstore beat, reads that when farmers are suffering drought or other natural calamity, they load up on stomach pills.

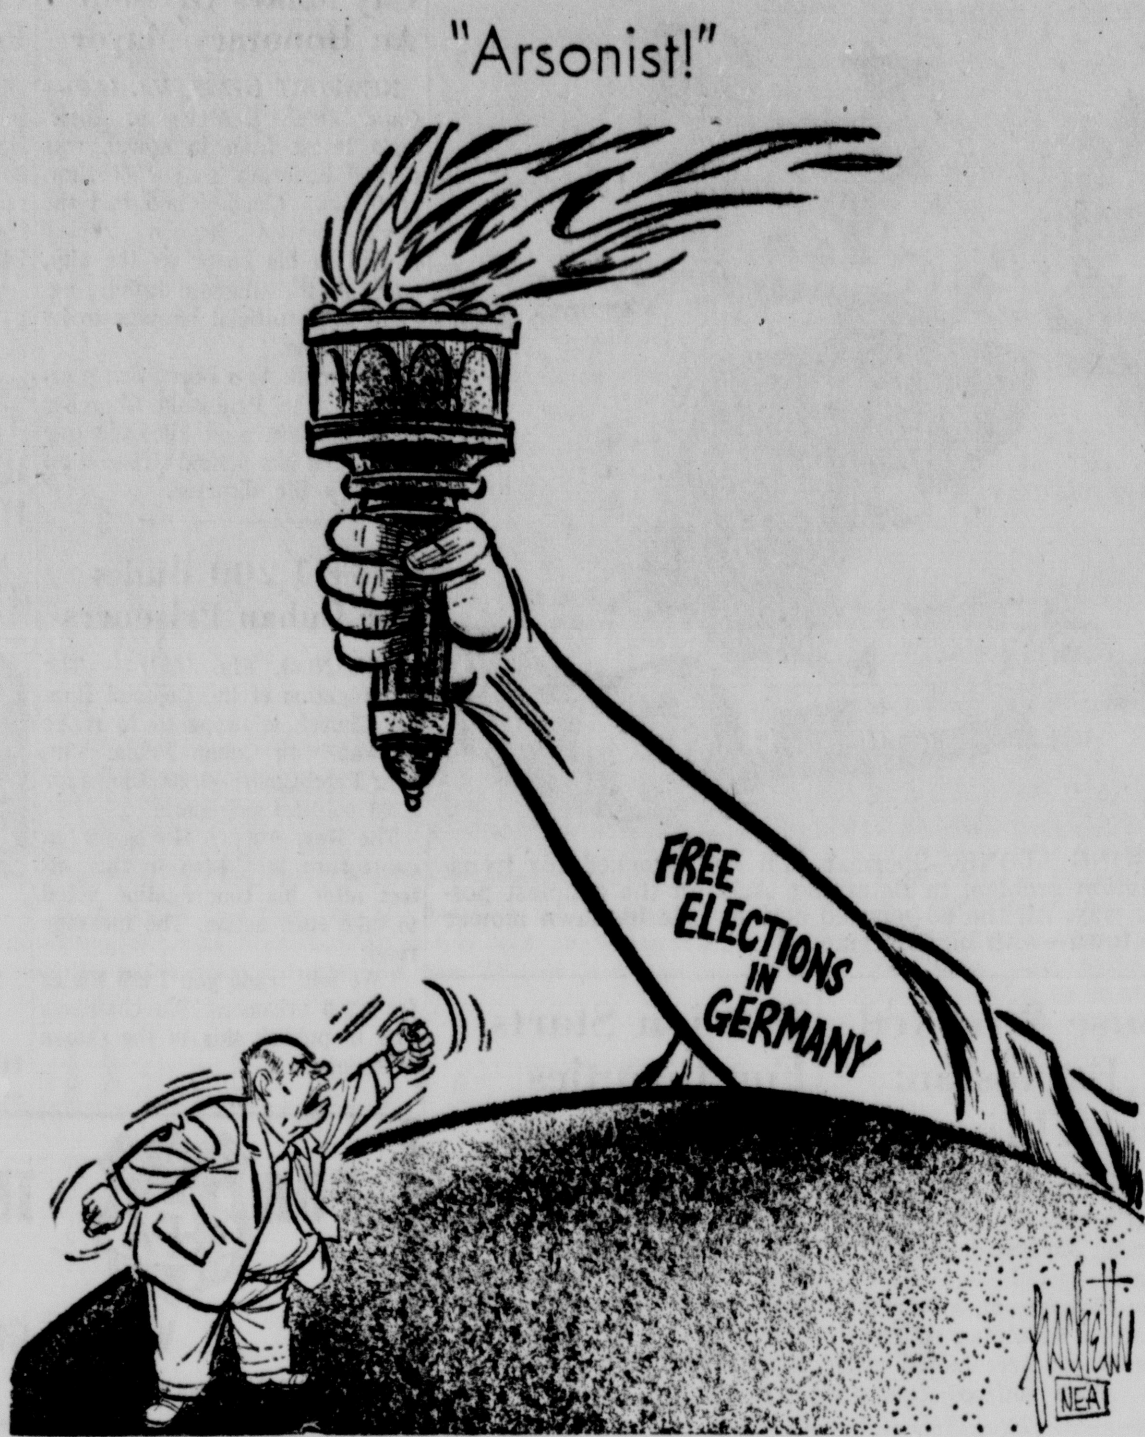

The senator recently flew to Switzerland to make a speech, and while abroad slipped over to Berlin to spout his views on that trouble spot. Perhaps it's time for Humphrey to proclaim a new law.

It ought to apply to him and anybody else with similar urges, and it should read like this: If possible, stay out of delicately balanced world problem areas. But if you feel you must go, keep your mouth shut. Be satisfied to look — and listen.

The World Today

Kennedy's Talk Expected to Be Tough

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's TV talk tonight, on defense problems intensified by Russian pressure on Berlin, will be made against this background—

His talk should be tough. Long ago he expressed the belief it would be a disaster if Russia got the notion the United States would not fight for Berlin.

He said it would be a great mistake to think the Russians are aiming only for Berlin, that their real aim is New York and Paris. Meaning: to split the allies, which would leave Russia master of Europe and isolate this country.

It could happen if the allies—who set up their NATO military alliance to defend Western Europe—chickened on defending Berlin, preferring to let it go rather than face war for it.

Therefore, Kennedy tough talk to Americans, to alert them to the possibility of war and rally them to his support in stepping up defense, will be tough talk in two other directions.

He'll be talking to the Russians, to warn them not to push their luck; and to the allies in Europe to stiffen their backbone by assuring them of American determination to stand with them against the Russian menace.

And if he talks about adding more divisions to the American armed forces, it will be a direct needle to the allies to do more in their own defense. Those NATO allies were originally supposed to produce 96 divisions.

But now in Europe—where Russia probably has more than 100 divisions to throw into a fight—NATO has about only 22. Five of them are American. Even if they increased their divisions, the allies wouldn't be in a good spot for ground war.

The Russians know this. And, unless Kennedy has changed his mind, he thinks so, too. Asked in an interview 17 months ago if the allies are in a position to fight anything but a nuclear war, Kennedy said no.

If he still feels that way then anything he says tonight—about building up ground forces—will be more for the psychological effect on the Russians, by showing American determination, than for any visible practical effect.

Nevertheless, Kennedy is not likely to sound belligerent. He will probably leave a door open for negotiation with the Russians about Berlin.

This is exactly what he did seven days ago in the tough note this country sent the Soviets on Berlin, warning them not to try force. But one part of that note was more propaganda than reality.

It said that in any settlement with Russia the United States insists on "conformity with the principle of self-determination" for the West Germans and the Germans living in Communist East Germany.

The last thing the Russians want is to let the East Germans—in free and open elections—decide whether they want to associate themselves with the West Germans or live under communism.

So it's a useful propaganda needle for the United States to keep telling the Russians the two Germanies must vote on what kind of government they want. Besides, the West Germans won't agree to permanent division of Germany.

But Kennedy himself — even though he may talk of German reunification again tonight—said on Dec. 8, 1959: "German reunification, which represents the long-range goal, is certainly not in the cards for many years."

Nothing has happened since then to make him more optimistic. That statement he made in 1959 was only part of many things he said about Berlin.

Here are some others from 1959 which may be useful to remember when he talks tonight: "I would say the chances are rather dim for a permanent solution of Berlin. But I do think it may be possible for us to reach a modus vivendi with them (the Russians), particularly if they feel that any real attack on our position in Berlin would bring war."

"The real problem is the more subtle struggle for Berlin, where they try to choke us off, where they try to end it not with a bang but a whimper, which never seems quite worth a war, because they choke us off step by step."

"That's going to be the real struggle. It's going to be a test of nerve and will."

Here's How Low-Income Housing Loans Stack Up

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — Suppose your income is between $4,000 and $6,000 a year—or higher—and you want to build yourself a home with one of these new 5.25 per cent, 40-year mortgages. The United States is now willing to guarantee them under the new omnibus housing bill signed by President Kennedy.

One out of every 4 U.S. families—a total of 11.2 million families, according to the Census Bureau—is in this low-moderate income group. Up to now it has been difficult for people in this bracket to own their own homes.

Under previous law, only displaced families who have been forced to move from their old homes by some government public works project—a dam, super highway or new airport — have been eligible for no down payment, long - term insured mortgages on purchase of new homes. But this has now been extended to anyone, in an experimental program running to June 30, 1963.

How do you qualify for such a loan?

First step is to go to a banker, a building and loan association or some private builder and tell him you're interested in buying a new home under the "section 221" program. Then you ask him if he will lend you the money.

If you want to buy an existing house, the maximum mortgage will run for only 30 years. For a new house, the maximum mortgage loan period is 35 years. But if you're a hardship case and can prove that you can't pay off in 35 years, you are eligible for a five year extension.

The mortgage loan is limited from $11,000 to $15,000, depending on whether you live in a high or low building cost area.

You must be prepared to make a down payment of 3 per cent of your loan—from $330 to $450. This is roughly the amount of "closing costs" on a mortgage loan of this size. But under the new law, closing costs do not have to be paid in advance in addition to the down payment, which is usual.

For a 40-year mortgage loan of $11,000, the repayment will be $37.56 a month, or $690.72 a year. For a 40-year loan of $15,000 the repayments will be $78.64 a month or $943.68 a year. These figures do not include taxes, nor insurance nor utility bills, nor repair and upkeep which you must pay. If your banker or builder and the Federal Housing Administration think that you can't meet these payments and the extras, the chances are your loan will be turned down. The rough rule is that annual income should be five times the annual costs of home ownership.

The $11,000-to-$15,000 house anyone builds under this program will have to meet FHA standards of construction. This will insure that the house you build stands up 40 years. They won't let you build a shack and give you 40 years to pay.

It is obvious that not much housing in this price range is going to be built in city areas of big land and construction costs. It will be mostly small town or suburban housing. The expectation is that the home building industry will in time lay out new real estate developments catering to families in the $4,000-to-$6,000 income class. When that day comes, there will be salesmen out looking for prospective home owners, instead of the other way around.

The Section 221 program is expected to appeal to young mar-

Reader's Notes On Choice Of Nursing as a Career

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

My recent recommendation of nursing as an ideal career for young women, eager for an opportunity to obtain professional training without sacrificing the opportunities for marriage, child-bearing and domesticity has aroused some constructive comments.

The son, husband and father of nurses contributes, in his words, "these few corrections to an otherwise excellent article":

After four years of education and at the cost of $5,000 plus, the R.N. gets $300 to $375 a month or as much as she could earn as a typist or clerk without being responsible, at times, for a human life.

"This same R.N. could take a six-week course (some states have much more stringent requirements) and be a licensed practical nurse and make almost as much money."

"In other words, the education for a nursing career is fine. But the pay is not."

I agree thoroughly with my correspondent. The salary figures he gives are, of course, for institutional nursing. The other side of the coin is the considerably higher rate of $16 to $24 a day that is the prevailing scale paid by the patient or family for private duty in and out of hospitals.

Writes a freshman student at "about the best hospital and nursing school in the country":—"I loved your article but I certainly had to chuckle at your statement that social contacts with medical students, internes and visiting physicians are encouraged. Nothing at our school could be further from the truth. One instructor was so angry at what you wrote that he went to the director and said that any student who even went out with a doctor should be kicked out of school. He said he realizes doctors have got to be married, too, but they should stay away from nurses. I respect his opinion but I have an aunt and uncle who are nurse and doctor and they couldn't be happier in their marriage."

I'm sorry to have upset your instructor, dear little sister. But, unless conditions have changed since the days of my youth, I'm afraid he's fighting a losing battle. I can't think of a better preparation for marriage than that of working together in the common interest for the worthiest of causes.

And I doubt that any intelligent director of a training school would kick a trainee out of school because she dated a medical student.

ried couples buying their first home or to people on pensions, if there is some expectation their children will eventually take over the property and finish paying for it.

In city areas, the hope for families in the $4,000-to-$6,000 income bracket who can't qualify for lower income public housing will be in a new type of housing. The new law authorizes construction of multifamily apartments by co-operators or nonprofit organizations like labor unions under 3.125 per cent interest rate mortgages and other cost-saving financing. But it will take time for these developments.

For rural families, the new legislation extends to non-farmers the Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration loan program. It covers construction, repair and remodeling of housing. Previously, this has been authorized for farmers only on 4 per cent, 33-year mortgages.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE

BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

New Social Security regulations are in effect beginning with August. These are answers to the most frequently asked questions concerning the new rules. They are written by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital's special writer, Arthur Lord.

NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

RULES — I.

DEAR ARTHUR: How do you account for the permanent reduction in monthly benefits if a man elects to take his Social Security at age 62 rather than age 65? I think this penalty is unfair!

WATCHDOG

DEAR WATCHDOG: Whether or not you elect to take your Social Security benefits at age 62 is entirely your decision. The Social Security Administration is not encouraging early retirement by 62-year-old men who are active, in good health and want to continue working. The new law was designed to help men between the ages of 62 through 64 who are unemployed because of failing health or an inability to get a job because of their age.

The reductions are calculated so that a man with an average life expectancy, will get the same TOTAL AMOUNT of benefits during his lifetime whether he takes reduced benefits before he is 65, or waits until he is 65 to start collecting his full benefits.

DEAR ARTHUR: My 80-year-old mother was supported by my sister and started getting Social Security checks after my sister died two years ago. I understand that widows benefits are being increased. Since mum gets her Social Security checks as a parent, and not as a widow, she probably won't get this increase, will she?

FLORA

DEAR FLORA: Yes, she will, unless your father is also living and getting benefits on your sister's Social Security account. The recent change in the law gives parents — where only one is getting benefits — as well as widows and widowers a 10 per cent increase in their Social Security benefits.

DEAR ARTHUR: My wife Grace and I are eligible for Social Security benefits totaling $115 a month. Four checks have been withheld this year because I reported that I expected to earn about $1,800. Do the changes in the Social Security law mean that we get an adjustment in our benefit checks?

LARS AND GRACE

DEAR LARS AND GRACE: Yes. Under the old law, if you earned $1,800 this year, $450 of your benefits would have been withheld. Under the new law, only $350 will be withheld. Payment of the additional benefits due you and Grace can be made when you file your annual report of earnings with Social Security. If you want to receive the money earlier, get in touch with your Social Security office now.

Next: More on retirement at 62.

Editor Dies After Bout With Cancer

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—Juel Mosley, 61, managing editor of the Southeast Missourian at Cape Girardeau, died Monday night. He had been ill for some time with throat cancer.

Mosley was stricken with a hemorrhage and died in an ambulance on his way to a St. Louis hospital.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

He would have been with the afternoon daily for 40 years next month. He joined the paper in August of 1921 and was a reporter for six years before becoming managing editor.

Prior to joining the Missourian he worked for the old Cape Girardeau Morning Sun.

The veteran newsman graduated from Southeast Missouri State College.

Under his direction the Missourian won numerous editorial honors, including the 1954 inland Daily Express Association's outstanding community service award. Three times in the past decade the paper has been named first among Missouri dailies in the general excellence classification of the Missouri Press Association.

Mosley was a member of the Centenary Methodist Church, past president of the Cape Optimist Club and a past Optimist district governor. He was a member of the local American Legion post and for two years was chairman of the city's traffic advisory committee.

He is survived by his widow, Clara, and two children, Juel H. Mosley of Philadelphia and Mrs. Howard Robb of Orange, Tex.

Confesses Role In a Break-in At Postoffice

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Kenneth C. Metcalf, 24, who is serving a prison term in North Carolina, pleaded guilty Monday in U. S. District Court to involvement in a break-in on April 14, 1960, at the Rombauer, Mo., postoffice.

Judge Wilson Warlick delayed sentencing until he learns what punishment is given to two other defendants in the case. A total of 131 postal money orders and a small quantity of stamps were taken from the Missouri post office.

Authorities identified the other two men as Sherman L. Fine, reportedly in custody in Tulsa, and Thomas E. Monahan, in custody in Indianapolis.

Metcalf's attorney, James M. Bailey Jr., asked leniency for Metcalf. Bailey said he understood Metcalf did not take part in the actual break-in but went to the scene to pick up his two companions.

Metcalf is serving a 2-to-3 year sentence in North Carolina for larceny and receiving. He has served 13 months.

Young Negro Boys Drown In Whirlpool

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Two young East St. Louis brothers were sucked into a whirlpool in a drainage ditch near East St. Louis Monday and drowned.

They were Jerome Fordson, 14, and Carl Lee Fordson, 11, Negroes.

Their step-father, Wyman Ellis, told authorities the younger boy got caught in the whirlpool and the other boy tried to save him.

BONNIE LASS—Judy Derry was named Missouri Lassie Queen for 1961. Judy, 18, is a senior at Stephens College and lives in Arrow Rock, Mo., with her parents on their 405-acre grain and cattle farm.

15 Homes Damaged In a Windstorm

ST. LOUIS (AP)—About 15 homes were damaged during a brief wind storm in a subdivision near suburban Creve Coeur Monday night.

The Weather Bureau said it received about six reports of funnel clouds in the St. Louis area during the night but none were confirmed.

The bureau said the Creve Coeur area damage was probably from a strong blast of wind of possibly 60 miles an hour.

Several porches were damaged, and yard lights blown out.

At one home a 10 by 15 foot back porch was ripped off and a roof torn off above the kitchen.

Halt Strike Protesting Constitution

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Edgar Whitehead said today a general strike called by Negro nationalist leaders to protest a new constitution has been broken.

With one African dead and five wounded by police fire in stoning incidents at the outset of the strike Monday, fresh troops and reservists were called up to protect workers on their way to and from their jobs.

The police gave the casualty figures. Originally three had been reported dead.

Workers streamed into Salisbury, the capital, in buses escorted by armored cars. Soldiers and police patrolled the main roads.

Whitehead said in a broadcast to the nation "the mass of the African workers did not want to strike," but were intimidated by extremists of Joshua Nkomo's African National Democratic party.

Nkomo has disavowed the strike but the party announced today it is calling for a countrywide stay-at-home Wednesday—the day for voting on a new constitution.

The nationalists object chiefly because the new constitution promises them only 15 seats in the new 69-member Parliament. They demand majority rule now for Southern Rhodesia's black majority.

Dalton Vetoes Bill Limiting Honor Colonels

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. John M. Dalton used his veto power twice more Monday.

One bill sought to limit the number of a governor's honorary colonels to 200. Dalton has more than 600 and legislators said there were so many there was no room for the lawmakers and their wives at the inaugural ball last January.

Dalton said he thought the number of colonels should be left to the governor's judgment since the office is strictly honorary and no expense to the state is involved.

Also vetoed was a bill that sought to exempt medical doctors, osteopaths, dentists and chiropractors from jury service in Jackson county.

Bills signed included ones to: Permit epileptics to marry.

Allow counties to join in setting up hospital districts, issuing bonds and levying taxes for hospital purposes if the voters approve.

Tighten the brucellosis control law with special provision for commercial feedlots.

Rapist Victim Clings to Life After Surgery

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Lisa Schuh, victim of a rapist, still clung to life today, but just barely.

She underwent nearly three hours of brain surgery Monday night at St. John's hospital in Springfield, Mo.

A hospital spokesman said she was still in critical condition with no improvement early today.

The Wichita girl was kidnapped, raped and brutally beaten Sunday while visiting her grandmother in Joplin.

Charleys Harvey Odom, 29, an ex-convict from Wellington, Kan., is being held without bond for a preliminary hearing Aug. 2 on a rape charge.

Odom was captured at a police roadblock Sunday within an hour after the girl was forced into a car at gunpoint by a man in front of the grandmother's home.

The child was found in some brush three miles northwest of the city about three hours after the kidnapping.

2 Maintenance Men Burned In Gas Explosion

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS (AP)—Two maintenance men were knocked unconscious and suffered severe burns in a natural gas explosion at the Monterey Motel Monday.

Walter Zirjacks, about 50, and Emory Barber, 55, were reported in satisfactory condition later at the hospital.

Zirjacks said he went into a closet of a utility room and lit his cigarette lighter to search for a gas leak. The explosion resulted.

Barber, asleep in the room was blown out of the building.

The closet door was jammed by debris and it took firemen several minutes to get Zirjacks out.

Parts of the roofs and walls of four motel units were blown off. A small fire was put out in five minutes.

Fire Chief Ben Southwick estimated damage at $10,000.

Jr. College Bill Okayed By Governor

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. John M. Dalton signed a bill today setting up a new junior college system for Missouri and authorizing state aid for it.

State aid will be paid on the basis of $200 for each 30 semester hours of college credit. A final appropriation bill, still to be signed, carries $700,000 as a start on the aid provision and $43,145 to administer the new junior college system.

The state Department of Education will set standards for new and existing junior colleges to be eligible for help and will decide whether a new college would be feasible in any proposed area.

The governor commented that the bill was not entirely to his liking but at least would establish the junior college principle.

Currently there are six junior colleges supported by public school districts at Moberly, St. Joseph, Kansas City, Joplin, Trenton and Farmington.

The governor vetoed his 19th bill, a measure that would have extended from 120 days to a year the time for getting refunds of gasoline taxes on fuel used on farms or for other non-highway purposes.

The veto, with others signed today, left the governor with 47 bills to be acted on.

Others signed included bills to: Require business places to keep railroad tracksides free of debris and vegetation as a safety measure for railroad workers.

Set up a system of scabies control in sheep, goats and cattle under the state veterinarian.

Require residents of the Federal Soldiers' Home at St. James to contribute to their support when they have regular sources of income or other financial means.

Monday the governor used his veto twice in rejecting two other bills.

Cost of Living Rises Slightly To a New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living rose two tenths of 1 percent in June to reach a new high.

The Labor Department reported the major factors in the rise were increased prices for used cars, gasoline and household textiles.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, told reporters non-food commodities were the largest factor in the rise, "although food went up to some extent."

He said fruits and vegetables generally rise at this time of year.

Clague called attention to a rise in the net spendable earnings of factory workers.

After four months of steady rise in the buying power of factory workers in June reached the record levels previously set in June and December of 1959.

Power Supply Bid Call For Moberly Prison

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Bids will be opened Aug. 8 for supplying electric power to Missouri's new $10 million medium security prison being built near Moberly.

Royal Cooper, acting state purchasing agent, said Monday the successful bidder must agree to have the facilities ready in time for the opening of the prison some time next year.

The contractor must build two primary circuits so service can be continued if one line fails. He also must put up a transformer substation of 4,000 kva capacity on the prison grounds near the boiler house and protect it with a strong fence.

Says Patrol Would Lose Fourth of Men In Military Callup

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent, reported today the Highway Patrol would lose almost a fourth of its men in any widespread military callup.

The patrol now has an authorized strength of 455 uniformed men.

Waggoner said about 100 men, including some lieutenants in key jobs, are members of the reserves or of the Missouri National Guard.

Black Market Sales Cause A Crackdown

LONDON (AP)—Nearly 60 airmen at the U.S. Air Force base at Lakenheath have been deprived of their tobacco and liquor ration cards for black marketing goods bought at the post exchange.

An Air Force spokesman said investigations were continuing at all U.S. bases in Britain.

The ration cards permit U.S. airmen at all British bases to buy 40 packs of cigarettes a month at 14 cents a pack, plus five bottles of spirits at such prices as $1 a quart for gin.

Because they are sold outside the United States, the goods are not subject to U.S. taxes. The British government has waived the taxes that drive the price of cigarettes up to 58 cents a pack and a bottle of gin to $4.20 on the British market.

Rock 'n Roll Ban Request Rejected

PARIS (AP)—Interior Minister Roger Frey has rejected a request by a Gaullist member of the National Assembly for a ban on rock 'n' roll in France.

Five policemen were injured recently when a rock session got too enthusiastic. The deputy complained that the teen-age craze sometimes caused rowdiness, but Frey said he could see no valid reason for a general ban.

Ghana's President Lauds Soviet Unity

MOSCOW (AP)—Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah ended a 15-day visit to the Soviet Union today declaring Soviet unity should teach the people of Africa a lesson in their struggle for "liberation from imperialism and colonialism."

Nkrumah, leaving by plane for Warsaw, Poland, told a crowd at the airport that the successes achieved by the Soviet Union in such a short time proved what could be done by a "united and loyal people."

Creditor Is Cutting Down Castro Debt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One relentless creditor, Erwin Harris of Miami, has snatched six of Fidel Castro's aircraft varying from one-engine crop dusters to a DC3 airliner.

Harris also briefly attached a $3,800,000 jet in which Castro himself flew to New York for a United Nations appearance but Cuba got that plane back.

Not so the DC3, a C-46 cargo plane, a military Cessna and three crop-dusting planes—all of which were flown to Florida by hijackers or defectors.

Harris also has seized and liquidated huge quantities of land awaiting shipment to Cuba.

The Miami advertising man, armed with a federal court judgment, is whittling down a $429,000 debt which the Cuban Tourist Commission incurred for tourist business promotion.

The DC3 was a Cubana Airlines craft diverted by hijackers from an intra-Cuban flight with 20 persons aboard. Fourteen of them asked asylum in the United States when they reached Miami, July 3. Harris earlier had attached a hijacked Cuban C46 which also landed at Miami.

He got three crop-dusters in one swoop when the duster planes landed in the Florida Keys July 5 carrying four refugees. July 21, a Cuban defector flew a military-marked Cessna to the Keys and it, also was taken by Harris.

Vaccine For Colds May Now Be Possible

LONDON (AP)—The British Medical Research Council reported today a vaccine against the common cold is now a possibility following a scientific breakthrough.

The council said it is collaborating with three commercial drug manufacturers who are working on a vaccine.

Scientists working at the Common Cold Research Laboratory at Salisbury discovered that with modification of the technique of tissue culture, viruses of the common cold could be grown consistently.

But the council cautioned that if many types of cold virus exist, prospects of developing a reliable single vaccine are not so bright.

Buffalo Captures Babe Ruth Crown

AL Stars Lost 7-0 In Final Game

The Buffalo All-Stars copped the North Central Babe Ruth District Championship Monday night by shutting out the Sedalia American League All-Stars 7-0.

Buffalo will now go to the state tourney in Ava this coming weekend.

Up against stiff competition, the locals managed to get men on base in every inning except the fifth. They failed to put anyone across the plate, however.

The old "hidden ball trick" was pulled on Ronnie Miller, Sedalia second baseman, when he got a single with two out in the fourth. Buffalo first bagger Ronald Bendridge held on to the ball after Miller got on base, and when Miller stepped off the bag Bendridge tagged him for the third out.

Sedalia's Larry Ryan led off the game with a single, but John Johnson sent a short bunt into the pitcher's glove and Ryan was caught halfway to second. McFall then struck out on three straight pitches.

Buffalo hurler Rex Lindsay gave up only five hits and one base on balls in his entire seven inning stint. Sedalia's pitchers Jim Johnson and Larry Ryan gave up a total of six hits and nine walks in their six pitched innings.

Buffalo had entered the tournament on a bye. Saturday night they defeated Boonville 7-5. Boonville had eliminated the Sedalia National League All-Stars Friday evening 11-0.

Manager of the Buffalo team is Wayne Claspill, with Pat Sharp acting as coach. William C. Hopkins was manager of the Sedalia American Leaguers and Leon Hall was coach.

Little League baseball has sort of taken a back seat for the past few days because of bad weather, the Babe Ruth Tournament, and Soap Box Derby.

In major league play Saturday night, July 22, it was Post 6 over Adco 14-12. Rebar was the winning pitcher, and Murry picked up the loss.

The second game saw Optimist beat Jaycees 6-2. Wagner was the winning pitcher and Ditzfield the loser.

Moose topped the Jaycees' 8-6 in the first game Monday night. David Moore was the winning pitcher, and Joe Lamy picked up the loss.

The second game saw Post 16 trounce Elks 10-1. Vansell was the winning pitcher, and Arnold was the loser.

Kiwanis slipped in one run in the seventh inning to break up a tie game and win over Post 16 by a score of 6-5 in A-team play. Woolery, who relieved Goosen in the fifth with the game tied, gets the win while Joe Jackson takes the loss.

Imhauser pitched a no hit game in 45 minutes for Kiwanis to beat Post 16 in a fast 1-0 game at House Park Monday night in B-team activity. Ditzfield picked up the loss for Post 16.

Glavin pitched Kiwanis to a 16-13 victory over Post 16 in C-team play. Crumley was the losing pitcher.

Medical Report On Track Team Is Improving

WARSAW (AP)—The medical report on the crippled United States track team which meets Poland here this weekend began to improve today.

The Poles were almost as happy about it as United States coach Jim Elliott.

"We don't want to go against a team that has a lot of injuries," said one Polish athletic official. "We have been hearing about the troubles the Americans have been having and have been hoping that they would come around."

"If we lose, we want to lose to a team and if we win, we want to beat the best," Elliott said he was amazed that the Poles showed such interest in the welfare of his squad.

"Every place I go," he said, "people buttonhole me and ask how our team is doing, if we'll be all right for the meet Saturday and Sunday."

"I tell them all I hope so. We couldn't be in any worse shape than we were against Great Britain last weekend. When the mile relay (the last event on the program) came around, I wasn't worrying so much about winning but just about getting four guys who could stand up."

At the moment, 10 members of Elliott's 40-man squad are ill or injured. Hop, step and jumper Bill Sharpe's leg was so bad he was sent home Monday.

The only one who might miss the meet, however, is javelin thrower John Fromm, who has had a bad pull in his right side.

The team will have six days rest between the Great Britain and Polish meets and that should help considerably. Last week, the squad defeated the Russians 13-9, the West Germans 14-6 and Great Britain 13-7.

Bowling League Debut

2,000 Attend Big Event In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The new National Bowling League tossed its hat into the sports arena Monday night with a Hollywood-like premiere attended by about 2,000 spectators.

The locale was a former movie palace in downtown Kansas City, Loew's Midland, complete with plush carpeting and lounge rooms. It will be known henceforth as Midland Stadium.

Hosting the event, attended by top brass in the bowling world, was Dick Charles of Dallas, commissioner of the league.

New scoring rules and free substitution featured the kickoff of the new league, which sponsors hope will compete with professional baseball, football and basketball for the spectator's dollar.

In place of conventional scoring, where the team that knocks down the most pins is declared the winner, a point system has been devised.

Five-man teams bowl against each other. The innovation is that each man in his position competes against the man in the same position on the other team. Match and bonus points decide the winner. A bowler chalks up a match point when he defeats his opponent. He also gets a bonus point if he scores a game of 210 to 219; two points for games of 220 to 229; etc., up to 10 points for a perfect game.

At the end of a game, the team with the most points is declared the winner. Commissioner Charles said he believes the public will like the NBL scoring plan because it injects the element of the home run, the long pass and the birdie putt into bowling.

Another new idea is the "wild card" player, who can be put into the game at any time and taken out again after throwing one ball. He usually is a specialist at picking up tough spares or splits.

A free substitution rule also permits a manager to replace a player at any time. The sub, however, must remain in the game for the remainder of the match if he throws more than one ball.

Four bowling lanes have been built in the center of the theater, extending from the stage. The bowling pits, where pins are spotted, are on what used to be the stage. Spectators use the plush seats in front of and at the sides of the bowling alleys.

A closed television circuit flashes the action on two medium-large screens on each side of the stage. Cameras catch the bowlers as they approach the foul line.

The bowling Monday night was mediocre. A team of all-stars defeated the Kansas City Stars 4-2. Top score was 211, posted by Jack Aydelotte, captain of the Dallas Broncos.

Others who appeared with the All-Stars were Buzz Fazio, captain of the Omaha Packers; Steve Nagy, captain of the Los Angeles Toros; Tony Lindemann, captain of the San Antonio Cavaliers; John Powell, Jr., captain of the Ft. Worth Panthers; Bill Bunetta, captain of the Fresno Bombers; Bernie Brayman, captain of the Minneapolis - St. Paul Skippers; Chuck Pezzano, captain of the New York Gladiators; and Billy Golembiewski, captain of the Detroit Thunderbirds.

The Kansas City Stars were represented by Captain Joe Joseph, Glen Blakesley, Bob Chase, Loy Countryman, Bob Kelley, Bill Pace, Mike Totsky and Carl Richard.

League play starts Oct. 13 and continues for 26 weeks with a 135 game schedule. Stadiums in other communities are ready or near completion. Prices will range between $1 and $3 in Kansas City.

'C Men' Battle 'M Men'

Detroit Stretches Lead Over Yanks

Detroit's "C men"—Cash and Colavito—are giving New York's "M men"—Mantle and Maris—a run for batting honors in the American League while Cincinnati's Frank Robinson continues his reign of terror against National League pitchers.

On Sunday it was Norm Cash who supplied the major fireworks in Detroit's double sweep over Kansas City to move the Tigers into first place and Monday night it was Rocky Colavito's turn to supply the heroics.

The New York native belted a three-run homer in the sixth inning that gave the Tigers their third straight victory. The 5-2 decision over the flying Angels at Los Angeles stretched Detroit's lead to one full game over the idle Yankees. Dick McAuliffe's two-run homer in the ninth iced the victory for Jim Bunning (11-7) and the Tigers.

Robinson, making a tremendous bid for the National's triple crown—batting, homers and runs batted in—and the most valuable player award, smashed a homer, double and single and drove in three runs in Cincinnati's 9-3 rout of the Braves at Milwaukee.

This was the streaky Reds' third straight win and fattened their league lead over the idle Los Angeles Dodgers to two games. It blunted the surge of the Braves who had won five straight and nine of their last ten games and dropped them 9½ games back of the Reds.

These were the only two regular championship games as most of the major leaguers took time out for the annual Hall of Fame contest at Cooperstown, N.Y. The Dodgers bombed the Baltimore Orioles, 6-2, in the exhibition.

Cash is leading the American League in batting (.366) and RBI (91) and is tied for fifth in homers with 27 in his bid for MVP laurels. Colavito is tied for fourth in RBI with 86, fourth in homers with 28 and is batting .283. Mickey Mantle is third in hitting (.333), first in homers (37) and tied with Colavito in RBI. Roger Maris is second in homers (36) third in RBI (88) and is batting .272.

Robinson, who stretched his consecutive batting streak to 19 games—a National League high for the season—took over the NL's first place in homers (29) and RBI (87), and closed in on batting leader Roberto Clemente with a .349 mark to the Pirate's .338.

The Tigers were trailing 1-0 when Colavito blasted his homer off Jim Donohue (4-4), a former Detroit right-hander. The Angels scored one run in the first on Leon Wagner's sacrifice fly and the other in the seventh on a walk, two singles and an error.

Cash opened the second with a triple but was stranded. In the ninth he walked and scored on McAuliffe's fifth homer. Al Kaline, another roaring Tiger, singled to extend his batting streak to 17 games.

Wally Pott (11) and Leo Cardenas (4) joined Robinson in the home run bombardment against Warren Spahn and reliever Tony Cloninger. Robby's two-run homer in the seventh gave Jay a fat 5-2 margin to work on.

It was Jay's third victory (no defeats) over his former teammates and his second over Spahn, who was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fourth with the score 3-0 against him. The 40-year-old outpaw, still three wins away from the elite 300 set, was charged with his 12th loss. He has won 9, Jay (14-5) paces the league in victories.

Both Frick and Cronin favor the return of the spitter, which some claim is now used illegally by Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and New York's Whitey Ford among others.

Carey also proposed a new statistic to be known as "T.A.B. or total advance." It would give credit to hitters who advance a runner around the bases but do not drive in a run.

"Say you have a man on first base," said Carey. "The next hitter singles to right field and the runner takes third. The next man hits a fly ball, scoring the runner. He gets a run batted in but the poor guy who made it possible stands on first base with nothing to his credit."

"When a batter would ground into a double play he should get minus-one T.A.B. for losing a base runner."

"Under that system a .260-hitter might turn out to be the most valuable man on a club."

Plaques to Carey and Hamilton were dedicated by Frick in front of the Hall of Fame before the exhibition game at Doubleday Field in which the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Baltimore Orioles 6-2. It rained during the ceremonies but a bright sun greeted the 10,000 fans at the game.

Among the Hall of Famers present were Frank (Home Run) Baker, Bill Terry, Ray Schalk, Joe McCarthy and Cronin.

The crowd observed a moment of silence for the five Hall of Famers who died during the past year. They were Ty Cobb, Bobby Wallace, Dazzy Vance, Fred Clarke and Tommy Connolly.

Marsha Feig Is Among Top 10 In Golf Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Vi Ann Beadle, 16, of Belton, went into the last round of the Missouri Girls' Golf Association tournament today with a seven-stroke lead.

The pre-tourney favorite, Judy Torluemke of St. Louis, was eight strokes back in third place after three-putting six greens on the back nine Monday.

Miss Beadle shot a 38-36—74, one stroke shy of the women's record on the par 35-35—70 Grandview course.

Barbara Bubany, 17, St. Louis, turned in 40-41—81.

Miss Torluemke, 16, two time state women's champion, had 39-43—82.

Others in the top 10 at the halfway point were Marsha Feig, Sedalia, 84; Marcella Atkins, Columbia, 84; Donna Kay Fox, Seneca, 89; Sue Asher, Rolla, 92; Judy Lewis, Springfield, 94; Susie Phillips, Springfield, 96; Marilyn Fisk, Joplin, 99, and Joy Teffer, St. Louis, 99.

"Of course the wedge wasn't in use in those days," says Olympia Fields veteran pro, Chuck Tanis. "But we've got a lot of trees and they've all grown since then."

Palmer is regarded the man to beat in a field which includes champions of 42 of the PGA's co-sponsored tournaments, 16 former PGA winners, 20 leading money winners of the year, 81 National Open titlists and 7 Masters' champions.

Winner of the British Open this month, USGA Open in 1960 and the Masters in 1958 and 1960, Palmer needs only the PGA crown to sew up all major titles.

Best boy or girl rider under 16, horse or pony—Gangbuster ridden by Jimmy Sims and owned by Frank Sims, Windsor, first; Bonnie Blue ridden and owned by Mike Flannagan, Boonville, second; and third was Beyond the Sun ridden and owned by Barbara Grey, Stanley, Kan.

Pony roadster, 46 inches and under—Ozark Kid ridden by Alice Lou Craig and owned by Craig Distributing Company in Salem, first; Prince Charming ridden by Gary Craig and owned by Craig Distributing Company in Salem, second; and third Model Superior ridden and owned by Jane Wyatt, Columbia.

Amateur walking horse stake—Shepherd of the Hills owned and ridden by Roy Burkholder, Sedalia, first; second, Magic High Noon owned and ridden by Herbert Jeans, Columbia; and third Lady's Last Boy ridden and owned by L. D. Kincheole, Lexington.

Three gait stake—My King's Row ridden by Earl Arnold and owned by R. J. McDaniel, Centertown, first; Jesse James ridden by Scott Higgins and owned by Jack Jones of Carrollton, second; Beyond the Sun ridden by Herman Affolter and owned by Barbara Grey, Stanley, Kan., third.

Fine harness pony class—Model Superior ridden and owned by Jane Wyatt, Columbia, first; King Supreme ridden by Dale Hofstetter and owned by Justrite Potato Chip Company, California, second; and Exline Curtiss ridden and owned by L. L. Frazer, Columbia, third.

Five gaited stake—Stormy Night ridden by Scott Higgins and owned by Mrs. Jack Jones, Carrollton, first; Frontier Doll owned and ridden by Herman Affolter, Stanley, Kan., second; and third was Satin's Brother ridden by Junior Mason and owned by Dr. Richard Meyers, Newburg.

Walking horse stake — Magic Buzz ridden by John Bollinger and owned by Dr. J. R. Popejoy, California, first; Midnight Scooter owned and ridden by Leon Burrow, St. Louis, second; and third was Midnight Curfew ridden by W. A. Greer and owned by Strickler Stables, Sedalia.

Also at the Tri-County fair in Tipton Sunday was the pet parade with the following winners announced: first, Steve Hartman; second, Christina and Mary Kathryn Bestgen; third, Jess McFarland; and fourth, Marsha Dahl and Debby Jones.

Dr. J. R. Popejoy, California, was the announcer during the shows. Judges were Jim Carter, Salisbury, Chester Brashears, Springfield, Walter Waddell, Sedalia, and Jim Dabbs, Joplin.

The president, Herman W. Knipp, stated that the fair was a success even though the rain stopped activity for one evening.

2 Youths Face Murder, Arson Felony Charges

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Two boys, 12 and 13 years of age, are charged with committing murder while perpetrating another felon, arson. The two, Frederick A. Wilson, the older, and James C. Rogers, both of nearby Santa Venetia, are accused of setting the North Western Pacific Railway $500,000 tunnel fire in which a fireman died.

District Atty. Roger Garey asked that both be tried in juvenile court.

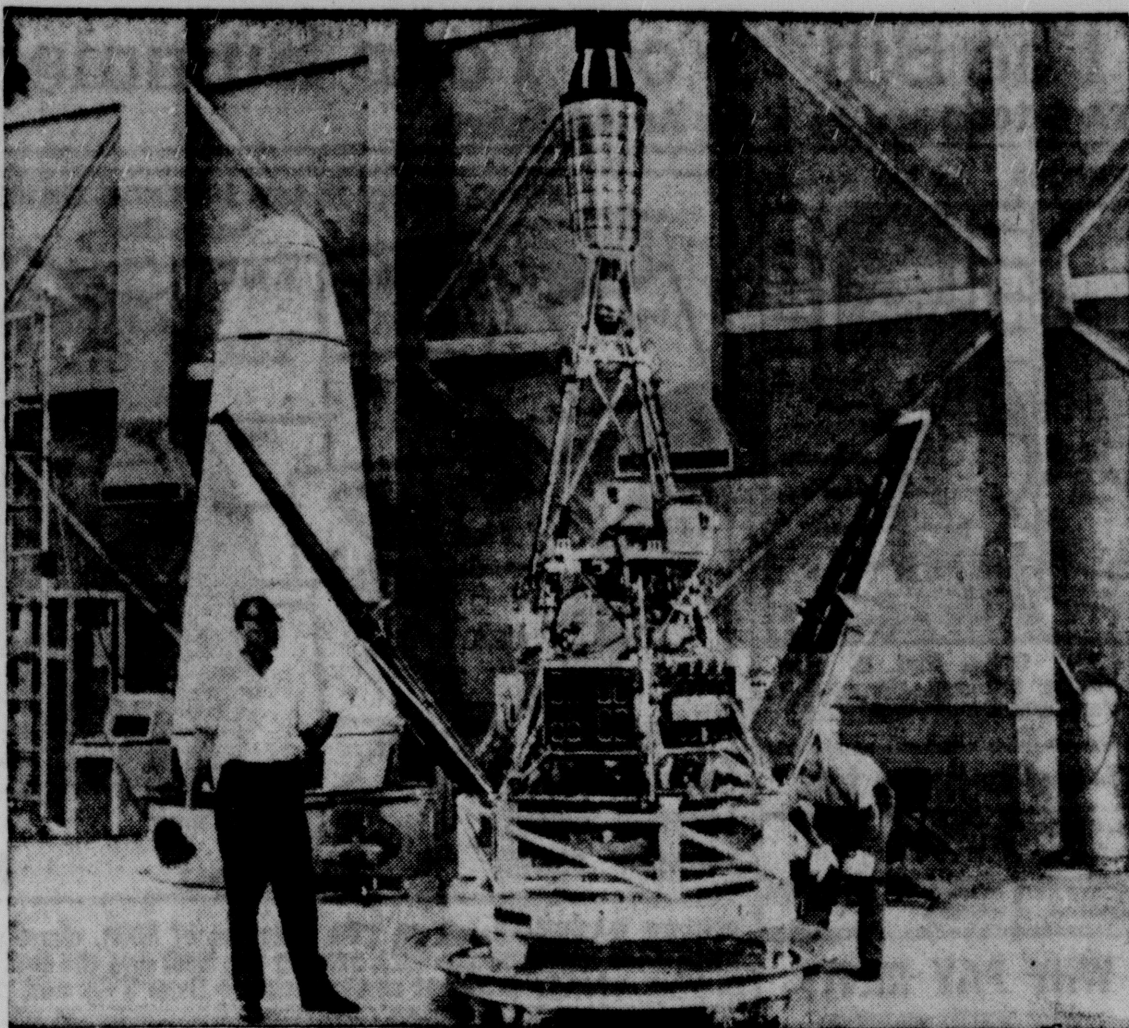

The charges were filed Monday. Garey said both admitted setting last week's fire which resulted in the tunnel underpinnings being burned out.

Lincoln Avenue sank into the tunnel at one point. Fireman Frank Kinsler, 24, and his truck dropped into the cavity. Shortly afterward an apartment house dropped into the blazing tunnel and burned.

US International Balance Sheet Seen On An Upgrade

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — America's economic status in the world is looking better all the time to at least one group of U.S. businessmen. They are sharply upgrading America's international balance sheet today.

And they are doing this in the face of the first hints of a new gold rush in London, the revival of some austerity measures by the British which could hurt American exports, and the call for increased defense buildup with its implied threat of higher taxes to come which many expect President Kennedy to make tonight to the American people.

In spite of this troubled world outlook, the Balance of Payments Group of the National Foreign Trade Council says we now look healthier than at any time since 1957.

That was when a strong tide set in against the United States, international deficits built up, and Europeans finally started a gold rush that last fall aroused doubts about the future value of the dollar.

The group is made up of economists and other executives of leading U.S. corporations with international dealings. Earlier this year it had estimated that 1961 would see a deficit of $1.9 million in the U.S. balance of payments. Today it has cut that to $500 million. The deficit ran at $3 billion to $4 billion in earlier years.

The continuing deficit since 1957 has arisen because U.S. spending abroad for imports, foreign aid, investment, military bases and services exceeds receipts from exports and services and income on foreign investments.

Today's sharp cut in the estimated deficit comes when Americans are uneasy over the situation in Western Europe on several counts.

England is having a trade deficit crisis of its own and the pound has weakened. Today it is spelling out the belt tightening it must do.

The price of gold on the London market has started creeping up again and now stands 13 cents above the official U.S. Treasury price of $35 an ounce.

England may announce by the end of the month whether it will join the Common Market. If other European nations join the parade this will turn Europe into a solid trading bloc bigger than the United States.

But the National Foreign Trade Council group sees this as our healthiest payment year in the last four. It forecasts that exports of commercial goods will recover from a recent sag to equal the record level of $19.4 billion set in 1960. But it puts 1961 imports at $14.1 billion, the lowest since 1958.

The outflow of private capital for further investment abroad, including short term funds, is put at $2.8 billion this year. But the return of income on existing private investments overseas is expected to be $3.5 billion.

So the dollar looks safer than some of the disturbing headlines on the front page might indicate.

Borgnine Is Happy Now With Spouse

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

ROME (AP) — "People are amazed that we're so happy. They expect us to be fighting all the time."

Ernest Borgnine was talking about his marriage to Katy Jurado. In a year and a half, the union has weathered many a storm, real and otherwise. I can testify that as of this writing they seem like a harmonious pair. Though he is an Academy Award winner and she is a talented actress neither is skillful enough to fake the felicity they now display.

"Everyone makes one big mistake in his life," said Ernie of the charges and counter-charges they flung at each other in California last year.

Both denied the photos and news stories that purported a fight between them after they arrived in Rome earlier this year. They attributed the whole business to the city's packs of freelance photographers.

"They are monsters," said the fiery Mexican. "They follow you around, waiting to catch you in some embarrassing pose."

"We were new in Rome and they were out to get us," Ernie said. "Also we had gone through that silly business back home, and they were expecting us to have trouble."

Now they spend most of their evenings at their hotel, she painting, he writing or watching TV. Yet they're not soured on the Roman life.

"The five months we've been in Italy have been like a honeymoon," said Ernie. "We've prowled through every museum, every gallery, we've studied the history of every important city, we've visited every antique store. We also visited the town where my mother was born and met cousins galore."

Ernie came here originally to do one film for producer Dino de

Growth Identified By Lynn Russell

The bright yellow flower-like growths appearing on West Broadway in the past few days have been identified as members of the toadstool family, and therefore not edible.

The growths, according to W. O. (Smoke) Wilson, are from one inch to one foot high, and look like bright flowers. He said they have been appearing daily in the vicinity of his home. They seem to appear where old stumps have been dug up, adding a considerable amount of color to the area.

Identification was made by Lynn Russell of the State Fair Floral Co., who said they only appear in extremely wet weather, and will last only until the ground dries out.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My parents, who have been fighting about their relatives on both sides for as long as I can remember, I am 12 years of age. Last night they had the worst fight of all. My father said my mother's sister brain-washed her and my mother said HIS sister brain-washed him.

My parents are both nice people and I don't want them to get a divorce. My father says he is willing to break off all connections with his sister if Mom will break off with HER sister. He claims they could get along just fine if the relatives were out of the act. Please print this letter and answer them.

Dear Ann: I hope you will, too.—Ann Landers The Second

Dear Ann II: Your advice is excellent. Married people owe their first allegiance to each other. When outsiders cause sparks to fly sometimes the only solution is to cut the connection.

Dear Ann Landers: If so many girls are looking for husbands why can't a decent, respectable guy like me find a girl?

The movies aren't after me but I'm not bad looking. I'm 29 years old, 6'1", weigh 200 pounds and I have wavy hair. My car is in good shape, and my job is steady. I'm neat about myself and have no bad habits.

The thing that beats me is that some of the guys I work with have girls after them all the time. The girls phone them at the shop, and pick them up in cars after work. Some of these guys are married men, heavy drinkers and plenty mean. It makes me think that maybe the way to get a girl is to knock her around a little. Could it be that I'm too nice?—Tom

Dear Tom: If you had made your whereabouts known you'd need police protection.

The world is filled with lonely people. The problem is to get them together. The best (and safest) way to make new acquaintances is through clubs, church groups, bowling teams, adult education classes, community projects, political groups and generous friends. Avoid gin-mills and places where girls stag. If you want to find a peach, don't look in a lemon grove.

Dear Ann: I'm interested in a girl who is 20 years old. She works as a wrapper in a department store, is lots of fun, and her character is good.

The trouble is she makes such ear-shattering errors in ordinary conversation that you'd think she never got through the fourth grade. Here are a few examples: She says, "I have went all over town looking for a dress," and "I seen it with my own eyes."

I'm not a college man but I speak respectable English. I haven't introduced this girl to my family because frankly I'm ashamed of the way she talks. Do you think I can teach her?—Vance

Dear Vance: A 20-year-old who "has went all over town and seen it with her own eyes" may be beyond hope.

I always warn people who write about this problem that after marriage a person's hearing seems to improve. If you can't stand it now, it'll be worse later.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bard's Play Given Civil War Setting

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Union and the Confederacy have captured Shakespeare now. Turning away from traditional setting, the American Festival Theater company has installed the Bard's "Troilus and Cressida" in a Civil War setting amid the rustle of crinoline skirts and rattle of flashing sabers.

The entertainment premiered as the final item in this summer's repertory "Macbeth" and "As You Like It" are the others—and is an intriguing, colorful experiment. Entertaining virtues outbalance creative deficits.

In a backstage memo, director Jack Landau explains that the period was chosen in an effort to clarify "certain ideas in this very complicated, difficult and beautiful play" and not just to capitalize on centennial attention surrounding the War Between the States.

The main problem, however, is that the very precise blue-gray costumes and spectator identity with historic events—keep getting in the way of educational abstraction.

The story centers on legendary events in the ancient Trojan war set off by Helen's pretty face. And to see Agamemnon, the Greek general, slug whiskey from a jug and puff mightily on a cigar in caricature of a later general simply distracts the spectator. So it goes.

Ted van Griethuysen does well as the loyal lover Troilus, but his inamorata, as limned by Carrie Nye, lacks the earthiness of wanton being, albeit she speaks every word so plainly.

Hiram Sherman, a side-burned Pandarus (the Trojans are all from magnolia land), carries off his chores with authority. Among the Greek (Northern) warriors, Paul Sparer makes Ulysses the epitome of guile. Thayer David enacts Ajax with musclebound fervor, and Donald Davis is an urbane but persuasive Achilles.

The company's ranking trio carry off lesser roles in this production with effective ease—Pat Hingle as Priam, Jessica Tandy as Cassandra and Kim Hunter as Helen.

The scenery by Robert O'Hearn against the festival's distracting permanent potato-chip background, includes the facade of an antebellum mansion and some flexible smatterings of camp locale.

Set down where it doesn't belong, "Troilus and Cressida" demonstrates once more the Bard's dramaturgy can take anything.

Arrested Man Not Former Nazi Doctor

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Fingerprints of a German-speaking foreigner arrested in the Brazilian hinterland are not those on record for Dr. Joseph Mengele, once the Nazi physician at Auschwitz concentration camp, the international police agent here said Monday.

Amoroso Neto, who returned Sunday from the Mato Grosso, said the man under arrest there, Joseph Kanat, also does not have SS tattoo marks. A border marshal arrested Kanat a week ago because he thought Kanat resembled photographs of Mengele published recently in a Brazilian magazine.

Cease-fire Called

French On Uneasy Guard; Tunisians Look for Help

TUNIS (AP)—French tanks and paratroops stood an uneasy watch in battle-scarred Bizerte today while Tunisia looked to other nations to help her expel the French from their big Mediterranean naval-air base on Tunisia's north coast.

Complying with a cease-fire call by the United Nations Security Council, both sides stopped the hard fighting that erupted last week after the Tunisians besieged the base and sent a flag-planting expedition into the French-held Sahara Desert.

Anti-Jewish Sentiments Are Denied

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann concluded 25 days of testimony today with a plea to his Israeli judges to accept his contention that he was never anti-Semitic but only a low-ranking person "who had to keep my nose in the card index files."

The former Gestapo official, on trial for his life and charged with criminal responsibility in the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews, looked tired and pale as he wound up his long testimony.

His final remarks from the stand were in answer to questions put to him by the presiding judge of the tribunal which will decide if he hangs.

"You have told the court that you took an oath as a soldier and could not break it," presiding Justice Moshe Landau said. "Were you a soldier in the SS?"

"Yes, at least I had a duty and I felt that duty in my heart," Eichmann replied.

"Was the work in the head security office a soldier's work?" Landau demanded.

"That's what we were told. We did not use weapons, but I might say we used to drill every morning and hold parades."

Landau quoted earlier testimony in which Eichmann declared he never tried to leave the SS during the war.

"It is my impression from what you say today that you remained in the SS because you well knew there was no way of getting out," the judge said. "But now, I read in earlier testimony that you said, 'I remained in the SS out of my own free will and choice.'"

"These are your own words. They must mean you remained in the SS out of your own free will. Is that correct?"

"Yes, that is true, your honor. There is a contradiction here," Eichmann conceded. "Even if a man wanted to leave the SS, he could not do so after the outbreak of war. To put it frankly, a person did not give it a thought."

Eichmann denied he ever made threatening speeches to Jews deported to a giant ghetto planned for a swampy plain in Nisko, Poland.

Landau forced Eichmann to acknowledge he was an avid reader of Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels' violently anti-semitic newspaper "Voelkischer Beobachter."

The Security Council resolution also called on both nations to pull back to their pre-battle positions, but French government sources said France would not comply until the Tunisian government guaranteed free communication to and between the various installations of the Bizerte base.

The French sources in Paris said Vice Adm. Maurice Amman, commander of the Bizerte base, and Tunisian officials should first negotiate a return to normal conditions, including an end to the blockade the Tunisians imposed a week ago. Then, they said, the political problem of Bizerte's future should be settled on a government level between France and Tunisia.

There was no exact information on the column of "volunteers" Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba dispatched last week to plant the Tunisian flag at Sahara marker 233, 45 miles southwest of the French-defined Tunisian frontier in an area claimed by Tunisia. The semi-official Tunisian News Agency said the French commander in the area had issued a 10-minute ultimatum for the Tunisians to withdraw or face attack, but apparently no attack took place.

U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld headed for Tunis in response to an appeal from Bourguiba for a personal conference on the crisis. Hammarskjöld who left New York by plane Sunday night shortly after he received the appeal, was to stop off in Zurich to pick up Pier Spinelli, director of the U.N. European office.

Negotiations for a permanent cease-fire were held up by an argument involving a question of face. Adm. Amman talked by telephone with Tunisian Deputy Gov. Hedi Mokaddem, but they immediately disagreed over a site for their negotiations.

Mokaddem insisted that Amman come to his offices, while Amman suggested they be held in a neutral civilian building. The Tunisians turned this down.

Bourguiba, addressing mourners at funeral services for victims of the fighting, said diplomatic negotiations were under way outside the United Nations. He hinted he expected the United States and Britain to help Tunisia in the crisis.

French sources in Paris said Bourguiba seemed to be trying to involve other nations in the dispute in order to avoid direct French-Tunisian talks. The French want to keep the issue on a bilateral basis.

In 1958, when French planes bombed the Tunisian village of Sakietsid-youssef on the Algerian border and killed nearly 100 persons, a U.S. good offices mission tried to mediate. The American action embittered the French and caused an uproar that helped topple the French government of Felix Gaillard, an event that contributed to the collapse of the Fourth Republic.

Hal Boyle's Column

Boyle Gets Last Laugh On Critics of His Column

By FRANCIS STILEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Everybody laughed at me a while back when I wrote of some esky birds yanking marigold plants out of my garden and zooming off with them. Now, heh, heh, I have the last ha, ha.

My veracity—and my sanity—has been upheld by some nice folks who kindly wrote from various parts of the country to say I wasn't goofy.

Still, had to endure a lot of hooting and jeering before this fortunate turn of events.

Even my old friend Ronald Aubrey, who is chief of the Associated Press Bureau in New Haven, Conn., and a marigold man himself, couldn't resist twitting me. "A likely story," he commented in a note. "It's a case of cutworms."

Cutworms, my eye. Just listen to this, from Mrs. A. W. Thornton of 105 Maple St., East Longmeadow, Mass.: "I believe you because we've had the same thing happen here. The bird is a starling."

"Also, when we have zinnias a small yellow bird has pulled off the petals and dropped them on the ground. We could not understand why—unless it is to get at the seeds."

"Anyway, it is very discouraging to plant flowers and have them destroyed. But we don't know what can be done about it. "Hope such a thing doesn't continue."

Thank you very much, Mrs. Thornton—but I must say I'm beginning to worry about my zinnias now.

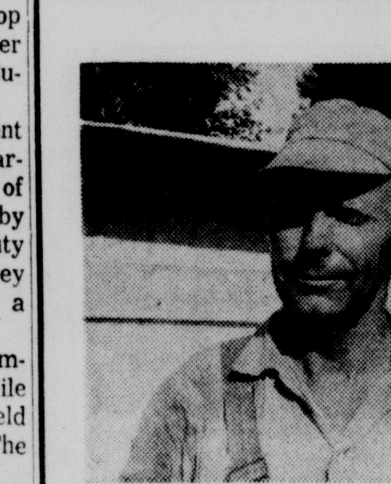

Now here is another communication, from Elmer F. Korilla of 239 Terrace Ave., Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.:

"I read your piece about the vanishing marigolds. You are not goofy or batty, for I had it happen to me."

"The marigold-snatcher is that reprobate, flop-house and skid-row character of the avian world, the starling."

"Heaven forgive me for maligning one of God's little feathered creatures, even when he always looks as though he had just been kicked off a slow freight, and sometimes tries to kid, eople into thinking he is a mocking bird."

"We have a sizable planter across the front of our garage roof. A family of these wacky characters nest somewhere about the house next door—in the attic, I suspect."

"n the a.m. during winter and arly spring they sit on the edge of their roof and cuss me out when I go off to work (we talk to each other)."

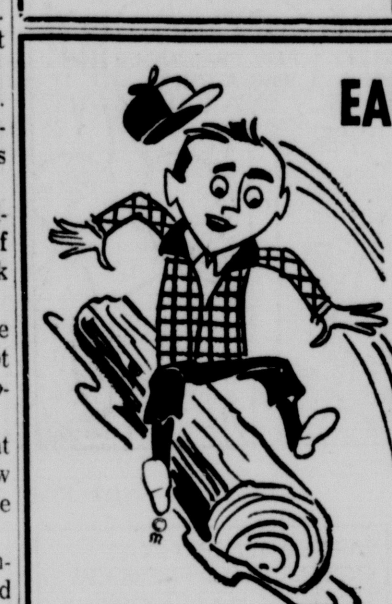

"I cuss them because last year they started by picking up the spent blooms of our petunias, which nip off, then took to lifting about 6 or 8 sizable snapdragon lants and several marigolds. assume they like a fragrant nest."

"Perhaps you might try shaking some moth flakes on the plants late at night. don't know whether that would deter them—they are such nutty birds they might also carry off the flakes."

"Hope this lets you feel a bit better."

also makes me glad didn't plant any snapdragons.

don't know about those moth flakes though. shudder to think what my razzing neighbors would say if my garden began to smell like mothballs.

Also, it makes me think of another friend here at the office who had troubles with rabbits chewing up marigolds and petunias around his summer home.

He got some kind of rabbit-bane powder and sprinkled it on the lants. It smelled so bad it kept the rabbits away, all right.

It also just about forced my friend and his family to abandon the premises.
